Broaden your perspective with travel

#ForeverProud

I believe that the depth of your character and the openness of your mind depends on the size of the world you live in. I don't mean the actual size of the world, but that little part of it where you work, live and go about your day. With our busy routines, work commitments, family obligations and everyday challenges, our world can end up feeling very small.

Mark Twain wrote that broad, wholesome and charitable views of people and things can't be acquired by spending your lifetime on the same little corner of the earth – that travel is fatal to prejudice and narrow-mindedness.

I think this quote is more relevant today than ever. As you spend more time in your routine it can become hard to break out and put things into perspective. However, the good news is that there's an easy fix. I believe that when you travel and visit new parts of the world and see how people eat, live, work, worship and celebrate, you feel more connected to the lives of others. It simply isn't possible to travel the world, experience new cultures and see people different from yourself without broadening your perspective and deepening your empathy.

WHEN YOU HAVE A DEEPER CONNECTION AND UNDERSTANDING OF PEOPLE FROM DIFFERENT BACKGROUNDS, CULTURES AND CONTINENTS, YOU'RE NOT ONLY GROWING AS A PERSON, BUT AS A FOREVER BUSINESS OWNER AS WELL.

The combination of these experiences, from traveling to immersing yourself in new cultures, foods and scenery becomes something that lives in your soul. You can't help but become more empathetic and understanding and realize that you are a citizen of the world.

That's why travel is at the heart of our incentives at Forever. Global Rally and Eagle Manager's Retreat are always in amazing destinations around the world, because we want you to go somewhere you've never been and experience something you might not otherwise have the opportunity to enjoy. We make travel part of our incentives because we know how profound of an impact it can have on you and your business.

When you have a deeper connection and understanding of people from different backgrounds, cultures and continents, you not only grow as a person, but as a Forever Business Owner as well. Those human connections are such an important part of Forever and how we all help each other grow personally and professionally.

But it's not just about the destination. Being surrounded by thousands of other Forever Business Owners from all over the world at our events is a truly one-of-a-kind cultural experience that provides you the opportunity to learn from others on a global scale.

When you make the decision to get out and see more of the world, you'll find that the places you visit become part of who you are. The empathy, connection and perspective you gain will enrich every area of your life and not only change the way you see your own little corner of the world, but maybe even expand it.

Forever Yours,

Rex Maughan
CEO, Forever Living Products

Technology is the future of Forever

There's no question that technology is changing the consumer market. Customers have new expectations. Whether it's two-day shipping or the ability to shop on your phone from anywhere, the face of retail is always evolving.

We all use Amazon for the convenience of one-click shopping and two-day delivery. Uber lets us pull out our phone, open up an app and get picked up anywhere within minutes. Airbnb makes it possible for us to plan a vacation with the push of a button. These companies all have one thing in common: They use technology to shape their industries and anyone who wants to compete has to adapt.

Technology is changing network marketing as well, even though our industry hasn't always been affected by trends in traditional retail. While person-to-person marketing is still at the heart of Forever, we can't ignore technology and the impact it is having on the entire retail industry. Consumer expectations have changed and by meeting those expectations we all have an exciting opportunity to grow.

That's why we've been hard at work to make sure you have the tools and technology you need to grow your business through retail and recruiting. In the U.S. and Canada, we're launching a new website that provides great retail capabilities with a simplified join process.

The modern, user-friendly design is easy to browse, shop and set up auto-shipping with added functionality that makes it simple to sign up new FBOs and build your team. We're also working to bring this technology to several EU markets later this year.

Our new digital First Steps to Manager and revamped Discover Forever app put powerful training tools in the palm of your hand by offering videos, guides and worksheets to help you and your downline achieve the Manager level. We've also created and continue to publish training videos, webinars and marketing materials designed to help you develop all aspects of your business.

All these digital tools are here to help you adapt and keep your Forever business at the cutting edge. As an FBO, one of the best things you can do for your business is to consider your habits and how you can make your business stronger by taking advantage of the technology at your fingertips.

This might mean moving out of your comfort zone, but once you do I think you'll discover some great new ways to build your business. Technology provides a unique opportunity to create your own customer service model. If you want to take your retail business online and focus on customers who shop digitally, you have the power to do that. You can also boost your person-to-person business by using technology to follow up with your prospects and customers. You have the ability to decide what to do with your business and give your customers the experience they want.

Today's technology makes it a great time to be a Forever Business Owner. I'm excited to see how you use these incredible tools to make the most of your business.

Keep smiling,

Gregg Maughan
