Find Your Motivation

Do you reflect on what motivates you?

As you may have come to realize during your journey, motivation doesn't last forever.

It's something you have to reignite and find daily – something that comes from within and often unexpectedly. When you do find your motivation, it usually hits like a tidal wave. It pours over you and you get a rush of incredible urgency to be great, and to do great. Just as quickly as this wave hits you, you get distracted by the world around you and it can sometimes become greater than your motivations. I know I've had my fair share of these moments.

Our world constantly chatters and distracts us. There's a new hashtag trending every minute on social media. Headlines flood in about the latest disaster or controversy on the news. Just go on Twitter or Facebook and see if you can't get lost in the endlessly changing conversations. It can be overwhelming. Yet, this constant back-and-forth between moments of inspiration and loss of motivation is natural. We just have to find a way to discover our motivations daily. Zig Ziglar once said, "People often say motivation doesn't last. Neither does bathing – that's why we recommend it daily."

To battle this constant change, I find peace in reflecting and reminding myself what keeps me going. You may find it in your children's eyes, or you may find it on the treadmill each morning. Wherever your purpose comes from, make time to get back there each day. Take a few seconds to soak it in, find peace, and fuel up with motivation. Don't get lost in the hustle of the world, get lost in your dreams!

Forever Yours,

Rex Maughan

CEO

2015 Eagle Manager Retreat – CANCUN, MEXICO... THANK YOU, FOREVER!!!

How do we begin to describe the 2015 Eagle Manager Retreat in Cancun??... one word "AWESOME"!!!

he adventure started as we left O.R. Tambo International Airport in Johannesburg, we flew into America and then on to Cancun. For many of our Group, this was the first time that they had ever boarded an Airplane. This experience was both exciting and a little unnerving for them, as our first stop was Atlanta in the U.S.A. Our Groups were amazed at the size of the Airport in Atlanta, where you travel from one Terminal to another by Train. Our Southern African Eagle Manager Group of 89 travellers spent the most exciting few days at the Moon Palace Golf & Spa Resort in Cancun. The weather was perfect for swimming and our Eagle Managers enjoyed spending time at the Pools and on the private Beach. We found the Mexican people to be friendly, happy and very eager to please. The food was superb and everyone enjoyed sampling Mexican cuisine.

For two days, we had incredible Training Meetings. Among the Guest Speakers were Jayne Leach (UK), Natalie Heeley (UK), other Members of the Global Leadership Team, Garin Breinholdt and Aidan O'Hare. Andrew O'Hare provided all important Training on FLP 360 and explained how to use this Tool to promote and enhance your Business. We also had powerful messages from Rex Maughan and Gregg Maughan. Rex reminded us on more than one occasion that the "the power of Forever, is the power of love". We couldn't agree with him more as we watched the Eagle Managers from around the world greeting and

We were all sad to leave hugging each other.

Cancun! Yet we were eager to get back to our Home Countries to close off the month of September and to plan on ways to achieve more in our Businesses after hearing from our World-Class Forever Leaders. Rolf & Dominique Kipp, the Number 1 Distributorship in the world, shared with us the products that they use as a family on a daily basis. We were very surprised to hear that each member of their family drinks a 1 litre bottle of Aloe Vera Gel each day. During the short time that Rolf and Dominique Kipp were on stage, they finished a 1 litre bottle of Aloe Vera Gel between them. They are great examples to us...beautiful, slim, fit and healthy!

Gregg Maughan also shared a video of the 2016 Eagle Manager Retreat in Greece. All we can say to our Southern African FBOs is...."DON'T MISS OUT ON THIS'!! There are 7 months remaining to achieve the Eagle Manager Incentive. Don't be one of our FBOs who say 'I wish that I had worked harder to get there'.

Have a great month!

Best Regards,

Rick and Eve

Did you know?

SPF (which stands for Sun Protection Factor) indicates how much longer you can stay in the sun without protection. For example, SPF 30 allows you to stay in the sun 30 times longer without burning than you could without sun protection! Still, make sure to reapply sunscreen often.

6 Tips For Beautiful Summer Skin

As the weather heats up, we all spend more time outdoors. While there are benefits to soaking up the sun's rays (We LOVE Vitamin D!), it is more important than ever to take proper care to protect your skin from the potentially harmful effects of the sun. Here are 6 important ways to care for your skin before, during and after fun in the sun!

All Over Protection

Before spending time outdoors, apply sunscreen with full-spectrum UVA and UVB Protection. Facial skin is particularly sensitive so take advantage of facial moisturizers or foundations with SPF that can give you an added layer of protection.

Don't Forget The Lips

The sun's rays can be especially drying to the tissues of your lips. Make sure to apply a lip balm with SPF to protect lips from drying, peeling and cracking. Preventative care is important! Planning effectively can help keep you from having to treat an uncomfortable or painful burn, or rough, chapped lips.

Hello, Hydration

There are so many benefits to drinking 8 glasses of water a day. Being well hydrated helps curb cravings, fight infections, flush toxins from the body and support healthy skin. Skin contains water, and when it is dehydrated the skin is more susceptible to appearing dry and wrinkled. Don't wait until you're thirsty – by then you're already on your way to dehydration. Instead, make drinking water part of your outdoor summer routine!

Say Ahhhhh

Even with all of our best intentions, sometimes sunburn happens. Apply Aloe Vera to the skin to soothe, cool and rehydrate red and irritated skin. Keeping the skin moisturized can help burns heal faster and delay or prevent painful peeling. Tip: keep your Aloe Vera in the fridge for a cool sensation to instantly take the sting out of burns!

Deep Clean

After spending time in the sun, skin can be oily and dirty. As soon as you get home, cleanse your face thoroughly to clear pores and minimize the possibility of breakouts before applying a light moisturizer. To keep your summer glow going strong, moisturizing is key! Dry skin can peel or shed faster and appear dull vs. well-hydrated skin that has a natural, healthy tone.

Get Even

Uneven skin tone can happen after pregnancy, time in the sun or as we age. Thankfully, these spots don't need to be permanent! Apply a spot-evening formula to brighten the complexion and improve the appearance of dark spots. Regular exfoliation can also help to keep your skin tone bright and even.

Following these simple steps can help keep your skin beautiful all year long!

"My life now seems too good to be true"

The growth of Emma and Shaun Cooper's business has been a bit of a whirlwind to say the least. Having only joined in December 2013, the couple have now hit Sapphire Manager level – a phenomenal achievement in less than 18 months.

or many FBOs, Forever offers a chance to exchange the stress of their current job for something more flexible and rewarding. For Emma and Shaun Cooper, this was most definitely the case. Emma had been working as a police officer in the drug squad of Greater Manchester Police when she found Forever. Her husband Shaun, whom she met through work, was also a police officer on the tactical aid unit. Before joining the police, Emma had suffered badly with anxiety and bouts of depression. Being accepted into the force was a huge achievement and made her happy - most of the time. "I was alright for a little bit," she explains, "but then I got assaulted quite badly a couple of times, and when two female officers, Nicola Hughes and Fiona Bone, were shot and killed on duty in September 2012, it really hit me hard. They weren't friends of mine, but they worked on the next division. They were just two girls who went to work one day but didn't go home to their families. It really hit home then what kind of job I was in." Emma began to question what she could do long term, but felt that there was no real way out of her job as a police officer as she had few qualifications.

Too Good to be True

It was while 30 weeks pregnant with her son, William, that Emma was approached about Forever's business opportunity. "I had been offered the opportunity four years before, but it wasn't the right time," she recalls. But the prospect of raising a family while she and Shaun were still risking their lives as police officers completely changed her perspective and she decided to sign up. Emma's policehoned instincts meant that she didn't take the decision lightly. "I researched the heck out of the company first because I was very skeptical as a police officer and it still seemed too good to be true. But do you know what? My life now seems too good to be true. So I'm glad I was open-minded enough to just take a look," she says.

Shaun was also naturally cautious when his pregnant wife told him she'd found a way for them to retire from their careers in the police force. "She went on to tell me about Forever and the concept of network marketing and she talked me through the Marketing Plan – which pretty much went straight over my head," he laughs. "But being a police officer, I didn't really trust anything until I saw it actually work." Four months in, Emma was earning four times her monthly police wage and by nine months was able to resign from the police altogether, with Shaun following shortly after. Today, the pride Shaun has in Emma's achievements is palpable as they both look ahead to a bright future with their family. "The day we became Forever Business Owners has got to go down as one of the best days of our lives," says Shaun. "It's allowed us to create an amazing life for William and made us both realize that absolutely anything is possible."

Building Belief

Despite her rapid success, Emma's selfconfidence issues were still a challenge in the beginning. But with the help of mindset coach, Dave O'Connor, she was able to push past those barriers and believes his advice has had a huge part to play in the growth of her business. "This guy has been a big secret to my success, because he's helped me find the confidence and belief," she says. Reaching Sapphire Manager level has helped cement this belief further, showing Emma and Shaun just how boundless Forever is. "When I went Sapphire, I thought that it wouldn't make much difference, but clearly I didn't work out the percentages very well," says Emma. "When we checked the bonus re-cap, we discovered it was a £10,500 ($16,000) pay rise from the previous month, which means that I earned more with Forever that month than my entire police starting salary - which is just insane, isn't it?"

Success

In the beginning, Emma's success seemed so insane – even to close friends and family – that she had to show her bank account to her sister, Nicola, to convince her that the business really could deliver what it promised. "My first thought was that it was a fad and a short-term thing," explains Nicola, who is now a Manager with Forever. "So I watched for four months. Then Em showed me her bank account and her Forever wage next to her police wage was four times the amount." Needless to say, she and her husband, Darryl, signed up with Forever shortly after.

A Different Type Of Family Business

Nicola is no stranger to running her own business as she already has her own online toy company, Bonnie and Pearl. She launched the company in the traditional way, which required a large cash investment and involved working upwards of 50 hours per week. Her experience with Forever has been very different - although not without its challenges, especially with two children to think about. But now she's hit that all-important Manager milestone, she is beginning to reap the rewards. "We have paid off all of our debts and our Earned Incentive has been used for our son, Joshua's, university savings. We've moved to a new home and have been able to enjoy eating out, plus we have a ski trip booked for January with no expenses spared," says Nicola.

Being able to work alongside family members is another great benefit of Forever's business model and Nicola has enjoyed having the support of Emma and Shaun, and her younger brother Kyle, who has also reached Manager. "We work together as a team and often have our FaceTime on for hours" she says, "so we feel like we're in the same room." Her brother Kyle, a graphic designer who was working six days a week when he joined Forever, agrees: "I am always on the phone to Emma sharing our success stories and she gives me the best advice," he says. "My team also speaks with her directly which is very helpful." It goes without saying that both Kyle and Nicola have no regrets about taking the leap and joining Emma's team - and would advise anyone who is in two minds about signing up to simply go for it. "Life is so short," says Nicola, "my doll company has cost £250,000 ($390,000) to set up and I have already exceeded my director's wage with Forever."

Kyle wishes that he'd seen the potential sooner, "It has taken me over a year to start doing it myself, and now I regret not having done it straight away," he says. "I'm so grateful to Emma for introducing me to the business. To say it's changing my life would be an understatement; I have now resigned from my full-time job as a graphic designer, I'm my own boss and work from home, or wherever I want, which is a luxury I never thought I would have. Financially, I can now save for a house in London, and it has given me the freedom to book lots of holidays as I love to travel."

Exciting Future

If the past 18 months are anything to go by, this family has an exciting future to look forward to. With Kyle and Nicola now at Manager level, they have all of Forever's incentives in their sights. "The incentives are phenomenal and give you laser-like focus," says Nicola. "My main goal this year is to help as many people to achieve Eagle Manager by December. We are one big family with great team spirit and to celebrate together in Greece will be incredible."
